

Home Energy Scotland

Stay Warm this Winter - free energy advice and information event

When: Tuesday, 26 February, 6.00pm – 7.30pm
Where: Fotheringay Centre, 57 Fotheringay Road, Glasgow G41 4NN

Home Energy Scotland is hosting a free event for anyone living in an older property such as tenement or period home who finds their home hard to heat or keep warm.

Funded by Scottish Government and managed by Energy Saving Trust, Home Energy Scotland is the free, impartial energy advice service available to help Scots make their homes more energy efficient and affordable to heat.

As a significant proportion of Glasgow's population lives in the city's conservation areas, Home Energy Scotland has brought together industry specialists to highlight what can be done to help improve energy performance and comfort levels in older properties that can be cold, damp and difficult to heat.

The event considers all elements of energy conservation and heat loss including glazing, draught proofing and insulation.

Whether you own and live in the property or are a private sector landlord renting properties to tenants, this event will be informative, with potential to benefit you.

Speakers and subjects

Learn about incorporating energy efficiency measures into period homes, as well as hear from owners who have experience improving energy efficiency in their own tenement properties.

Find out about technical support available free from Home Energy Scotland and Scottish Government funding available to help improve energy efficiency.

We recommend that you book your place in advance.
